

Gr. 2, Theme 5, Story 1
Brothers and Sisters, Fluency

newborn	family	grown-ups	tiny
themselves	wonders	cuddle	enough

What is it like to have a new brother or sister? Tori is going to find out soon. Her mother is going to have a baby.
“Is it going to be a boy or a girl?” Tori wonders.
“Will mommy love me as much when the baby comes?”
Ben has a newborn brother, and Dorrie has a new sister.
Sometimes having a baby in the family is fun.
“Our new baby is so soft and tiny that I want to cuddle her all the time,” says Dorrie. But sometimes a baby is not so much fun.
“Babies can’t do anything by themselves,” says Ben.
“Mommy still loves me. But she is so busy taking care of the baby,
I have to play by myself until he takes a nap.”
“I’m so tired of hearing everyone say how cute the baby is,”
says Valerie.
“I like to hold my baby sister all by myself,” says Michael.
So does Leo.

What is it like to have a new brother or sister? Tori is going to find out soon.

Her mother is going to have a baby. "Is it going to be a boy or a girl?"

Tori wonders. "Will mommy love me as much when the baby comes?"

Ben has a newborn brother, and Dorrie has a new sister.

Sometimes having a baby in the family is fun.

"Our new baby is so soft and tiny that I want to cuddle her all the time," says Dorrie. But sometimes a baby is not so much fun.

"Babies can't do anything by themselves," says Ben. "Mommy still loves me.

But she is so busy taking care of the baby, I have to play by myself until he takes a nap."

"I'm so tired of hearing everyone say how cute the baby is," says Valerie.

"I like to hold my baby sister all by myself," says Michael. So does Leo.